“ Mark, my high school chum and fellow prankster..we have had some times and although it's been awhile since I've been to our town, ti won't be the same without you. We made perfect friends..we took turns making the other one laugh.

If God does indeed have a sense of humor, we'll be sharing a cloud and more laughs one day. You always had a kind heart. I will never forget you and your smiling face.

“ Hey Albright, what's up? Get it? heard you passed away today. For many this will be a sad and tough day. I have tears as I write this, looking back we shared a lot of great times together, and i am sure our future too will hold a lot of great times again! That old cliché " Today is the first day, literally, of the rest of your life!" I too hold sadness for your passing, but also extreme happiness knowing you suffer no more, and will again see those you have missed and loved.

In Hebrews 11-1 it speaks of Faith and things hoped for. This part I believe is speaking of me, oh buddy. Then it goes on to say, evidence of things, not seen. As you know this part is referring to you. You are the evidence of things not seen. How cool is this! It brings back memories some 40 years ago when we used the saying " Front Row Baker". You remember that? It's quite obvious who has the "Front Row" now. Great job buddy!

As you know I can't stand talking on the phone, nor do I know how to text. As for technology goes the T.V. remote is the single most piece of technology I like or know how to use. But now with you being the evidence I can say "Hi" anytime and anywhere to you forever. See you soon my good friend (Lord willing)!

P. S. Cheri says "hi" too.
