“ My fondest memory of Aunt Martha Jane was back when I was about 11/12 yrs. old and she came to visit us when we lived in Dracut, Massachusetts around 1983. This was the first time I remember meeting her and I immediately gravitated toward her bright big smile and giggly personality. I quickly became her sidekick during this visit and enjoyed our conversations all the while she teased and kidded around with my Mom. We stayed up really late and talked about all kinds of things. Martha Jane had a fun and easy going way about her and she liked to get all those around her to partake in the laughter. During this visit one night my Father (who was a no nonsense kind of man) didn't particularly like talking during dinner but it was Martha Jane who during this visit tried to start some friendly conversation. She started to tell us about some recent stories and my Dad wasn't responding or engaging much. Martha Jane started looking around and said what is wrong with you guys... don't ya'll speak at dinner?? I joined in next and said yeah how come we don't talk during dinner? Martha Jane then started giggling and then I soon followed, then my little sister and then my Mom... next thing you know we're all crying with laughter. Martha Jane even though we never managed another fun visit like this and I never got to see you in person again...I'll never forgot the impression you left on my heart & soul. 💜 We did get to talk over the phone I believe in 2019...and I enjoyed catching up and hearing your voice. I pray you will forever be showing all those in Heaven how to have fun and smile and to laugh & giggle until the tears stream down their faces. MJ you'll be missed, until we see each other again. ☐❤

“ My deepest sympathy to John and to Martha’s children and their families for their loss.

I knew Martha for almost twenty years since she married my brother in law John, and throughout all those years I admired her for her love and care for her children and her faith in God. She would never hesitate to support her children, nothing came before them.

May the angels welcome her in paradise, may she rest in the peace of the Lord. May God comfort her family and help them get through this very difficult time. Amen.
